DRUMBEAT

Timeless Elegance, Exceptional Performance

Step aboard Drumbeat, a 53-metre performance ketch that epitomises sophistication and seafaring prowess. Built by Alloy Yachts and designed by Dubois Naval Architects, this pedigree sailing yacht offers an exquisite blend of classic charm and modern luxury. With a rich charter history and accolades including victory in the 2005 Rolex Transatlantic Challenge, Drumbeat is an icon on the water.

Refitted in 2019 and continually maintained to the highest standards, Drumbeat is a standout on the charter market. From serene Mediterranean cruising to spirited regatta participation, her spacious decks, superior sailing capabilities and dedicated crew promise an unforgettable yachting experience.

INTERIOR LIVING

Contemporary Comforts, Classic Detailing

Redecorated in 2019, Drumbeat's interior exudes understated luxury. A refined mix of coloured textiles, modern artwork and rich wood tones sets a tranquil, welcoming tone. The full-beam salon is bathed in natural light and features versatile lounging areas and an elegant dining table for eight.

Marquetry furniture and a thoughtful palette of beige carpeting and warm woods enhance the yacht's graceful ambience. A forward cockpit with seating and a dedicated office area ensures comfort and connectivity for guests who seek both relaxation and productivity at sea.

EXTERIOR LIVING

Crafted for Lifestyle at Sea

Drumbeat's expansive teak deck offers a multitude of inviting outdoor spaces. The aft lounge features a shaded al fresco dining area, while the versatile flybridge serves as an observation point for regattas or an intimate setting for dinner under the stars.

A forward sunbathing zone adds to the yacht's outdoor appeal. The transom converts into a wide swim platform, offering seamless access to the sea and tender activities. A handle on the boom allows for adventurous water entry; an ideal addition for family fun.
