Discover the Amalfi coast in true style with Princess Maela, a classic gentleman's yacht where pedigree meets modern luxury. Built in steel in 1962 at the Secni shipyard in Marseille, this distinguished 28.8 metre vessel embodies decades of seafaring heritage. Since then, she has received continuous upgrades, with dedicated mini refits each winter and a full crew all year round.

Originally launched as a whaling ship, she was transformed in the 1970s into an elegant luxury yacht at the prestigious Comitti shipyard in Como, beginning her refined life on the water. A comprehensive refit in 2004 at the Lavagna shipyard brought Princess Maela to contemporary standards while preserving her unmistakable charm and character, enhanced by stabilisers for smooth, confident cruising.

With four beautifully arranged decks, Princess Maela offers generous space and exceptional comfort. The lower deck features four elegant double cabins, each with a private en-suite and shower, providing a serene retreat for guests. The main deck saloon welcomes you with a warm and sophisticated lounge and dining area, seamlessly connected to the galley for impeccable onboard service.

Above, the flybridge offers a relaxed lounge with an indoor TV room and bathroom, which can also be converted into an additional double cabin if required.

Outdoor living is a true highlight: a spacious aft deck invites guests to enjoy alfresco dining and leisurely moments, while the sundeck offers a stylish lounge and minibar – perfect for sunset cocktails. A sunbathing area on the bow completes the exterior spaces, ideal for soaking up the sea breeze and panoramic views. Guests can also enjoy a varied selection of water toys, along with a chase boat for shoreside excursions.

Princess Maela is more than a yacht she is a timeless experience, blending classic elegance with modern comfort for a truly distinctive Mediterranean charter.
